"Arnold and I cannot begin to thank you enough for speaking at the California Governor's Conference on Women and Families. We so appreciate the time and talent you contributed to making this an exceptional day for our audience of over 10,000 women and 500 high school girls who attended."

"Thank you for your outstanding presentation...Your talk exceeded all our expectations. The feedback I received was that your presentation was the best our group has ever hosted! Days after your talk, attendees stopped me in the hallway to say you really touched them and how they started to implement the 'coaching tips' you provided."

Sandra McMahan, Steering Committee, Women's Intrinsic Network \(WIN\), Lockheed Martin Space Systems Company

"From the moment I reached out to Dr. Frankel to discuss our event, I knew she'd "wow" our audience of technical women (and men) with her insights and actionable strategies. Lois managed to engage the audience and keep them actively involved throughout the entire session, which is not easy with a group of notorious multi-taskers. Men and women alike found extreme value in the session and the feedback is over-the-top positive. We're looking forward to engaging Lois and her team for subsequent events. On behalf of Microsoft's Women in Architecture community, I thank you for such a relevant and impactful event."

"The event went very well, I'd say extraordinarily well, and Lois was simply superlative. Our audience was wowed by her insights and message. She was the highest-rated Speaker. We are extremely pleased by the outcome and want to thank Lois for her contribution to making this a truly memorable event."

"WOW! I'm not sure if you knew this, but I used to be the Executive Director of The Learning Annex here in LA. Whenever I booked one of my favorite authors, I was always incredibly disappointed because their talk was never as good as their book. So what a nice surprise today that you're not only an incredible author, but a wonderful speaker, too. Everyone loved what you had to say and how you said it. The interactive format was perfect for our group."

Toby Berlin, Vice President, Programming Acquisitions, DIRECTV

"Dr. Frankel presented three outstanding seminar days for 360 managers and professionals. We received our best ever feedback for an AIM Management Masters seminar, with ratings of 9.5 out of 10. The vast majority of participants described Dr Frankel's presentation style as 'inspirational and engaging', with most commenting that they were able to take away a multitude of practical tips and advice. Apart from being a superb communicator and educator, Dr Frankel is generous with her time and energy, and 'walks the talk'. We look forward to Dr Frankel's return to Australia."
